The Warwick Area Farmworker Organization (WAFOW) is offering a program that will address the critical issue of mental health in the farming community. Farmers face unique challenges, with suicide rates three and a half times higher than the general population. Providing insights, resources, and support to address mental health challenges prevalent among farmers and farmworkers. All are welcome to attend this crucial discussion.

Our Speakers:

Judy Battista

A healing conversations coordinator with the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention, and founder of Warwick Cares - mental health, and suicide prevention initiatives

Chris Pawelski

A fourth-generation farmer who has been active in numerous farming related issues over the years.
